Mister Donut introduces new ramen dish

Vocabulary Match

twist ●	offerings ●	serve ●	treats ●	limited ●	period ●
● change	● time	● give	● items	● sweets	● short

Article

In a fresh twist, Japan's Mister Donut, famous for doughnuts, is adding ramen to its offerings. The new dish, named "Misudo Shiru Soba That You Eat at Home," is different from most quick noodles. It's not fried, making it a healthier choice that tastes like fresh ramen from a good restaurant.

Yet, ramen isn't their only new item. The "Misudo Meal" menu brings more variety. It includes Pizzatta, pies, and muffins. This shows Mister Donut's aim to serve more than just sweet treats.

To celebrate 30 years of their yum cha menu, the chain is selling the new ramen for a limited period. This step is also a sign of their push to keep things new and exciting for their customers.

Quiz

1. What is Mister Donut adding to its offerings?
2. How is the new ramen different from most quick noodles?
3. Why is Mister Donut selling the new ramen for a limited period?

Conversation

A: Mum, can I try that new ramen they've got here?
B: Ramen at Mister Donut? That's a twist! Why not?
A: Awesome! And maybe a doughnut for dessert?
B: Only if you promise to eat your veggies at dinner!
A: Deal! I love trying new things here.
B: Me too. Oooh, I'm going to get a Pom de Lion!

Discussion

1. What is your favorite type of donut?
2. Have you ever tried ramen before? Do you have a favorite ramen?
3. Do you think it's a good idea for Mister Donut to offer more than just donuts? Why?
4. What other kinds of food do you think Mister Donut should offer?
5. If you could change the name of Mister Donut, what would you call it?

Copyright © Nick Ramsay