Story

Will had a big idea for his weekend. He decided to build a treehouse in his garden! "I have to finish by Sunday night," he told himself.

On Saturday morning, he started with the base. He worked all day, hammering and sawing. By evening, the base was strong, and he was very happy with it. On Sunday, he woke up early to build the walls and roof. It was harder than he thought, but he didn't give up.

Finally, just before sunset, the treehouse was ready. Will was tired but happy. He climbed up, looked around, and smiled. "My weekend challenge is complete!" he said, feeling proud. It was his best weekend ever!
